

We've Got You Covered and International Students Needing Quarantine Terms & Conditions

Correct as of 10th July 2020.

Flexible Start Date

This is applicable to full time student booking for the academic term from September. If you are a prospective full-time student, and your offer of a place at your preferred university/college is delayed or moved to online lectures due to the COVID-19 pandemic during semester 1, you may be eligible to change the start date of your accommodation.

Students at Universities who have either delayed the start date of their courses or are delivering off campus (online) teaching in semester 1, can apply to delay their accommodation start date by up to 60 days – this will be split into two sections; a first offer of 30 calendar days, followed by and if necessary a secondary offer of an additional 30 days. During the agreed delayed period you will not be obligated to pay any accommodation fees.

To delay your start day under “Delayed University Start? Stay Your Way!”, you must supply (a) a copy of a written letter from your chosen university/college stipulating you course start date is delayed or reduced to off campus learning. This must be received by LIV Student (bookwithmwe@livstudent.com) within 5 calendar days of the date on which you have requested to defer your start date or by 1 July 2020, whichever is earliest. On receipt of the required documentation, provided it is satisfactory, your tenancy start date and rental obligations will be void for a period of up to 60 calendar days.

Checking into your accommodation within the agreed delayed start date will void the “Delayed University Start? Stay Your Way!” policy. Accommodation fees will be charged from for the day of check in.
